

The Dean's Proposition

As an enrolled student at BIAD you are entitled to:

- Appropriate access to some of the best equipped specialist studios, learning centres and workshops in the UK
- Set and agreed contact time with some of the UK's most able practitioners, researchers, theoreticians, lecturers and support staff
- Feedback on assessments within 20 working days (final year dissertations may take longer)
- Online learning support
- Student Services support on call
- Students' Union activities and opportunities
- Participate in cultural and creative industry-facing courses which value and promote employability and enterprise
- Opportunities to be part of the wider University's society of learning

As a student you are expected to:

- Engage professionally with your course
- Take active responsibility for your learning
- Follow the University code of conduct
- Participate in all scheduled lessons and activities
- Be ambassadors for BIAD and the University
- Participate in wider University activities
- Become part of a community that embraces and encourages rapport
- Be respectful, supportive and understanding of staff and fellow students
- Fulfil the expectations of your Course Director, the Course Teams and your subject area.
