6	Course Description
	Want to study both Psychology and Sociology at University? Our BSc (Hons) Psychology with Sociology degree combines both subjects. This is a British Psychological Society (BPS) accredited Psychology course with Sociology as a minor subject. Every semester you will study 2 Psychology and 1 Sociology module. Our innovative Psychology with Sociology course will give you a deep understanding of how the core and specialised areas in Psychology and Sociology contribute to our understanding of contemporary issues. You will apply scientific reasoning and evaluate patterns of behaviour, gaining key transferable skills in communication, teamwork and problem solving. Sociology helps us make sense of the societies in which we live and our place within them. Our Psychology with Sociology course brings together two closely interrelated areas, allowing you to gain significant knowledge and insight. This versatile course provides the opportunity for you to embark on a Psychology career, or bring those skills to the domain of Sociology Over the three years, your Psychology modules will help you gain a deep understanding of one's mind, behaviour and reasons why individuals carry out certain actions, while your Sociology modules will explore and question social norms and discover the complex issues behind day-to-day routines and social practices. We use a blended learning approach, where we teach the core topics and theories in lectures; to explore the topics further we have interactive and activity-based seminars and then to enhance your learning we provide you with online activities and resources. The staff teaching on the course are experts in the areas and topics they teach on, which further enhances your learning experience, as they bring with them their practice or research-based knowledge. We use a variety of assessment methods, this includes essay and report writing, presentations, using real life examples such as analysing case studies, online based quizzes linked to lecture materials and exams. Our focus on contemporary and innovative learning practices will help you gain key employability skills, such as communication, teamwork and problem-solving, as well as key skills in two innovative, intriguing disciplines. You will also have an opportunity to go on field trips related to Psychology and Sociology. Such as museum or prison visits. You can also apply to study abroad for a semester or take a yearlong industry placement. Some of our modules also invite guest external speakers who are practitioners, giving you a holistic picture. Overall, the degree course is designed to prepare you for employment or Postgraduate studies.
